A - wake my joy, a - wake I say, My lute, my harp and string;
A - mong the peo - ple I will tell The good - ness of my God,
His mer - cy doth ex - tend as far As hea - vens all are high,

13.
Set forth and shew thyself, O God,
Above the heav'ns most bright:
Exalt thyself on earth abroad,
Thy majesty and might.

Notes: The original order of parts is 2nd - 1st - [Instrumental bass] in the opening symphony, and Tenor - [Alto] - Treble - [Bass] - [Instrumental bass] thereafter. The alto and tenor voice parts are given in the treble clef an octave above sounding pitch in the source. The concluding symphony is given on the voice parts in the source, with the second treble-range instrumental part (given here on the alto staff) printed on the tenor staff at the same pitch as given in this edition (i.e. this has not been transposed by an octave in transcription). The first time bar has been added editorially, to accommodate the repeat from partway through bar 27 back to partway through bar 15 which is shown in the source. The first verse of the text is underlaid in the source, with three subsequent verses printed after the music: verses 11 and 12 have here been underlaid editorially.

2 Awake my joy, awake I say - from A Ninth Set of Psalm Tunes (Thomas Clark)

15

And I my-self be-fore the day Will In That
 And shew his praise that doth ex-cel In hea-then lands a-broad,
 His truth as high as a-ny star That shi-neth in the sky,

And I my-self be-fore the day Will rise, re-joice and sing,
 And shew his praise that doth ex-cel In hea-then lands a-broad,
 His truth as high as a-ny star That shi-neth in the sky,

And I my-self be-fore the day Will rise, re-joice and sing,
 And shew his praise that doth ex-cel In hea-then lands a-broad,
 His truth as high as a-ny star That shi-neth in the sky,

And I my-self be-fore the day
 And shew his praise that doth ex-cel
 His truth as high as a-ny star
