ARISE, O LORD GOD, LIFT UP THINE HAND

from Musica Deo sacra (London, 1668)

"A prayer"

Thomas Tomkins (1572-1656)
ed. Ross Jallo

Arise, O Lord God, lift up thine hand,
for the comfortless sake of the needy,
and because of the deep sighing of the poor.
Arise, O Lord, in the multitude of thy mercies.
Hear the cry of the widow,
and let the complaint of the fatherless come before thee.
Plead thou their cause against the oppressor.
But as for those that shew mercy,
remember them, O Lord, for good,
and spare them according to the riches of thy mercies,
in Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
Tomkins - Arise, O Lord God

- Arise, O Lord God, O Lord God, lift up thine hand, for the comfortless sake of the needy, of the needy, for the comfortless sake of the need.
- Arise, O Lord God, O Lord God, lift up thine hand, for the comfortless sake of the needy, of the needy, for the comfortless sake of the need.
- Arise, O Lord God, O Lord God, lift up thine hand, for the comfortless sake of the needy, of the needy, for the comfortless sake of the need.
- Arise, O Lord God, O Lord God, lift up thine hand, for the comfortless sake of the needy, of the needy, for the comfortless sake of the need.
- fort-less sake, for the com-fort-less sake of the need-y, for the com-fort-less sake of the need-y, of the need-y, the
