

The Enquirer

Anonymous Author, apparently first appearing in Ingalls 1805

87. 87. Irregular

Transcribed from Ingalls' Christian Harmony, 1805.

D minor

Jeremiah Ingalls, 1805

Tr. 5
1. Oh! that some one would tell me, Is this the road that Christians go? Hark, and hear what has be - fell me, Now my heart is filled with woe.
2. Oft with darkness I'm sur-roun-ded, Peace nor comfort can I find; If I hear the gos - pel sound, it Brings no com - fort to my mind.

T.
3. O! the sin, that's in me lur - king, Of - ten brings me very low; Sa-tan still with me wor-king, Is this the road that Christians go?
4. If Christ Je - sus, by his spi - rit, Took possession of my heart, Could I not then plead his me - rit, Should I from his way de - part?

B.
5. But can this be all de - lu - sion, Which by turns I think I feel? Who can tell the whole con-clu-sion? To the Lord I must ap - peal.
6. But if bread of life's been broken, And my heart renewed by grace, Je - sus, wilt thou as a to - ken, Let me see thy smi - ling face?