

The sweet nightingale

Birds in the spring

English folksong

Arr.: Jens Klimek

$\text{♩} = 80$ S+A mf

One mor - ning in May by_

Piano p

7

chance I did_ rove_ I_ sat my - self down by the side of a_ grove,_ and_ 13

there did I hear the sweet night - in - gale sing_ I ne-ver heard so sweet,_ I ne-ver heard so sweet,_ I ne-ver heard so sweet as the birds in the spring.

19

25

p 00

p 00

mf
All on the green grass I sat my - self down where the

mf
All on the green grass I sat my - self down where the 32

00

00

voice of the night - in - gale a - choed a - round; - Don't you hear how she qui - vers the voice of the night - in - gale a - choed a - round; - Don't you hear how she qui - vers the notes? I de - clare_ No mu - sic, no song - ster, no mu - sic no song - ster, no mu - sic, no

38

45

oo _____ mf Come all you, young oo _____ Come all you, young oo _____ song - ster with her can com - pare. Come all you, young oo _____ song - ster with her can com - pare. Come all you, young men, I'll have you draw near I pray you how heed me these words for to men, I'll have you draw near I pray you how heed me these words for to

52

men, I'll have you draw near I pray you how heed me these words for to men, I'll have you draw near I pray you how heed me these words for to hear that when you're grown old you may have it to sing that you ne-ver heard so grown old you may have it to sing that you ne-ver heard so grown old you may have it to sing oo

58

grown old you may have it to sing oo

64

sweet, oo that you ne-ver heard so sweet as the birds in the sweet, oo that you ne-ver heard so sweet as the birds in the

that you ne-ver heard so sweet, that you ne-ver heard so sweet as the birds in the

that you ne-ver heard so sweet, that you ne-ver heard so sweet as the birds in the

70

spring. oo that you

spring. oo that you

spring. oo

spring. oo

76

ne - ver heard so sweet, — that you ne - ver heard so

ne - ver heard so sweet, — that you ne - ver heard so

p that you ne - ver heard so sweet, — that you ne - ver heard so

p that you ne - ver heard so sweet, — that you ne - ver heard so

81

sweet as the birds in the spring. rit.

sweet as the birds in the spring. rit.

sweet as the birds in the spring. rit.

sweet as the birds in the spring. rit.