Think'st Thou Then By Thy Feigning

John Dowland

Cantus

Altus

Tenor

Bassus

Think'st thou then by thy feigning sleep with a proud disdain
O, that thy sleep dissembl'd were to a trance resinbling Should then my love aspiring forbidden joys desiring

Think'st thou then by thy feigning sleep with a proud disdain
O, that thy sleep dissembl'd were to a trance ressembling
Should then my love aspiring forbidden joys desiring

Think'st thou then by thy feigning sleep with a proud disdain
O, that thy sleep dissembl'd were to a trance ressembling
Should then my love aspiring forbidden joys desiring

Think'st thou then by thy feigning sleep with a proud disdain
O, that thy sleep dissembl'd were to a trance ressembling
Should then my love aspiring forbidden joys desiring

- dain-ing, or with thy craf-ty clos-ing thy cru-el eyes res-
- sem-bl'd, thy cru-el eyes de-ceiv-ing of live-ly sense be-
- sir-ing so far ex-ceed the du-ty that Vir-tue owes to

- dain-ing, or with thy craf-ty clos-ing thy cru-el eyes res-
- sem-bl'd, thy cru-el eyes de-ceiv-ing of live-ly sense be-
- sir-ing so far ex-ceed the du-ty that Vir-tue owes to

- proud dis-dain-ing, or with thy craf-ty clos-ing thy cru-el trance re-sem-bl'd, thy cru-el eyes de-ceiv-ing of lively joys de-sir-ing so far ex-ceed the du-ty that Virtue

- dain-ing, or with thy craf-ty clos-ing thy cru-el eyes re-
- sem-bl'd, thy cru-el eyes de-ceiv-ing of live-ly sense be-
- sir-ing so far ex-ceed the du-ty that Vir-tue owes to Beauty? No, Love, seek not thy bliss beyond a reav-ing: Then should my love re-quire thy love's un-reposing, to drive me from thy sight when sleep yields to Beauty? No, Love, seek not thy bliss beyond a sense be-reav-ing: Then should my love re-quire thy love's un-owes to Beauty? No, Love, seek not thy bliss beyond a reposing, to drive me from thy sight when sleep yields more de-light, such harm-less beau-ty gra-cing: and

- kind des-pite, while fu-ry tri-umph'd bold-ly in sim-ple kiss. for such de-ceits are harm-less, yet

more de-light, such harm-less beau-ty gra-cing: and

- kind des-pite, while fu-ry tri-umph'd bold-ly in sim-ple kiss. for such de-ceits are harm-less, yet

more de-light, such harm-less beau-ty gra-cing: and

- kind des-pite, while fu-ry tri-umph'd bold-ly in sim-ple kiss. for such de-ceits are harm-less, yet while sleep feign'd is, may not I steal a kiss, thy Beauty's sweet dis-grace and liv'd in deep em-brace of kiss a thou-sand-fold for kis-ses may be bold when

while sleep feign'd is, may not I steal a kiss, thy Beauty's sweet dis-grace and liv'd in deep em-brace of
kiss a thou-sand-fold for kis-ses may be bold when

while sleep feign'd is, may not I steal a kiss, thy Beauty's sweet dis-grace and liv'd in deep em-brace of
kiss a thou-sand-fold for kis-ses may be bold when

qui-et arms em-brac-ing.
her that lov'd so cold-ly.
love-ly sleep is arm-less.

qui-et arms em-brac-ing.
her that lov'd so cold-ly.
love-ly sleep is arm-less.

qui-et arms em-brac-ing.
her that lov'd so cold-ly.
love-ly sleep is arm-less.