Washington

No copyright. Transcribed from John Norman's Massachusetts Harmony, 1784.

American Composer, 1784

C Major

1. Ye sons of men, with joy record The various wonders of the Lord: And let his power and goodness sound

2. Sing earth in verdant robes arrayed, Its herbs and flowers, its fruit and shade: Peopled with life of various forms,

3. But O! That brighter world above, Where lives and reigns incarnate love! God's only Son in flesh arrayed,

Let the high heav'ns your songs invite, Those spacious fields of brilliant light: Where sun and moon and

View the broad sea's majestic plains, And think how wide its maker reigns: That band remotest

Thither, my soul, with rapture soar; There in the land of praise adore; This theme demands an spacious fields of brilliant light: Where sun and moon and planets roll. And stars that glow from pole to pole. Think how wide its maker reigns: That band remotest nations joins. And on each wave his goodness shines, And on each wave his goodness shines.

Public Domain.

in the land of praise adore; This theme demands an angel's lay, Demands an undecreasing day, Demands an undecreasing day.

think how wide its maker reigns: That band remotest nations joins, And on each wave his goodness shines, And on each wave his goodness shines.

in the land of praise adore; This theme demands an angel's lay, Demands an undecreasing day, Demands an undecreasing day.

maker reigns: That band remotest nations joins, And on each wave his goodness shines. That band remotest nations joins, And on each wave his goodness shines.

brilliant light: Where sun and moon and planets roll, And stars that glow from pole to pole. Let nations joins, And on each wave his goodness shines. View angel's lay, Demands an undecreasing day; This theme demands an angel's lay, Demands an undecreasing day.