The Silver Swan

Orlando Gibbons
(1583-1625)

This edition © Andrew Sims 2009
her first and last, and sung no more: Fare well, and sung no more, no more: Fare-well, all joys; O
and last, and sung no more: Farewell, all joys;
no more, and sung no more: Fare-well, all joys;
and last and sung no more: Fare-well, all joys;
Fare well, all joys;
O death, come close mine
death, come close mine eyes; More
O death, come close mine eyes;
O death, come close mine eyes;
O death, come close mine eyes;
More geese than swans now live, more fools than wise.
geese than swans now live, more fools than wise, than wise.
More geese than swans now live, more fools than wise.
eys; More geese than swans now live, more fools than wise.
More geese than swans now live, more fools than wise.